

Jennifer Groman <jgroman@ashland.edu>

Invitation to Speak at New Faculty Orientation

1 message

Sharleen Mondal <smondal@ashland.edu>
To: Jennifer Groman <jgroman@ashland.edu>

Mon, Aug 10, 2020 at 12:59 PM

Dear Jennifer,

I hope this message finds you well! I look forward to working with you in the AURWC this semester and you'll be getting another email from me in the next day or two regarding that work. Today I'm writing because I wondered if you might be willing to serve on a panel of faculty at New Faculty Orientation on Monday, August 24 from 3:20-3:50 PM. You'd be on the panel with one or two others (I'm still firming up those details) and the format is that each panelist will briefly introduce themselves and share what they've found to be some of the most useful information they've learned during their time at AU so far that they'd like new faculty to know about. Altogether these remarks would be very short, say 3-4 minutes, so that the rest of the time, new faculty can ask questions of the panelists. The new faculty will already have received lots of information about AU earlier in the day, so the focus of this panel would be to help our new faculty have their questions answered by someone who has recently been new or who otherwise has a helpful perspective about being a faculty member (and as an Assistant Professor and AURWC participant and small group coach, you meet both of these). Do you think you would be able to serve on the panel? You could either join us in person in Ronk Lecture Hall or attend virtually.

Thanks for considering this request!

Sincerely,

Sharleen

--

Sharleen Mondal, Ph.D.

Associate Professor, Department of English
Director, Ashland University Research and Writing Community
Ashland University | Bixler Center for the Humanities 302
401 College Ave. | Ashland, OH 44805
419.289.5393 | smondal@ashland.edu